CRAYONS BELONG IN CHILDREN’S HANDS, NOT LANDFILLS. DONATE YOUR USED AND UNWANTED CRAYONS TO KIDS IN NEED!
OUR STORY

The Crayon Initiative began with one man’s life-changing trip to a family restaurant...

Since he was a young boy, entrepreneur Bryan Ware has passionately believed in the power to express oneself through art. One evening in 2011, Bryan, his wife and two sons were dining at a local restaurant in celebration of his 40th birthday. While the boys were coloring with crayons provided by the establishment, Bryan was struck with curiosity.

“I wonder... What happens to these crayons after we leave?” he asked.

Sadly, Bryan learned that many restaurants discard crayons after only one sitting, even if they are untouched. And because crayons are not environmentally friendly, they turn into a waxy sludge that clogs up landfills and never biodegrades.

Bryan took those crayons home with him that night, convinced that the life of a restaurant crayon doesn’t have to end there. It became his personal challenge to find a creative way to recirculate an endless supply of free art materials to children everywhere. And thus The Crayon Initiative was born.

Since then, Bryan and the Ware family have proudly dedicated themselves to sorting countless crayons in their own backyard, cooking them down in their kitchen, and recycling them for future creative use.
WHAT WE DO

More than a half-million pounds of crayons are discarded annually throughout the U.S. That equates to roughly 60 million crayons!

The Crayon Initiative collects used and unwanted crayons donated from restaurants, schools and homes across the country, then melts them down and remanufactures them, reducing environmental waste.

Better yet, the recycled crayons are distributed to art programs at children’s hospitals across the U.S., brightening the lives of young patients during their stay.

These programs provide young patients with a creative outlet to express themselves, while at the same time helping alleviate anxiety. They also enhance problem-solving and critical thinking skills, while promoting creativity and imagination. When the patients at our partner hospitals finally get to go home, they often take our crayons with them because they represent a happy memory during an otherwise uncertain time.
HOW TO SET UP A COLLECTION DRIVE

Starting a collection drive in your neck of the woods is a fantastic way to support your community and help the less fortunate.

First set up collection boxes or bins at your schools, places of worship, community centers, and other local gathering places. The Crayon Initiative can send you small boxes or you can design your own. Just print out and apply our crayon recycling sign to the boxes and watch them fill up all year long!

To give your campaign a boost, you can download and print flyers to post around the neighborhood or to supplement your newsletters and packets. We also recommend having volunteers create their own posters to spread the word about their participation in The Crayon Initiative.

Printable signs are available at the end of this document.

Finally when you’re ready, ship your crayon bonanza over to us!

Please ship your boxes to: The Crayon Initiative
155 Railroad Avenue, Suite E
Danville, CA 94526

We suggest inquiring with local businesses and organizations to see if they would also like to donate their crayons or cover your shipping costs as a sponsor.
ACTIVITY SUGGESTIONS

- Discussion Questions: What are crayons made of? What happens to crayons when people are finished using them? How long does it take for crayons and other items to decompose? What is recycling and why is it important? Can crayons be recycled? How can your old crayons help someone else? How are used crayons melted down and remanufactured into new ones? What else do you recycle at home?

- Talking Points: Sixty tons of crayons are manufactured daily... More than a half-million pounds of crayons are discarded annually throughout the U.S. That equates to roughly 60 million crayons... Wax crayons are made of petroleum, a chemical that is toxic to our environment... If we don’t recycle crayons, they eventually end up in our landfills and never biodegrade... Fortunately, special crayon recycling centers can melt down old, broken crayons and transform them into new ones.

- Design Sorting Boxes: Encourage volunteers to decorate their own sorting bins/boxes – one representing each color – and fill them accordingly with collected crayons. We sort colors into red, orange, yellow, green, blue, purple, pink, white, black and “everything else.” Please note that sorting is optional (but quite helpful).

- Color Days: Assign a different color to each day on the calendar. Have volunteers create crayon art based on each day’s color scheme and then place their used crayons in the appropriate box for that day.

- Color Songs: Incorporate color-themed songs into your curriculum. You can sing or play these songs while sorting the colors. There are a few examples:
  - Busy Beavers: Color Songs Collection Vol. 1
  - Learn Colors & Objects Song

- Fun Reading Material: We recommend two great picture books that appeal to younger volunteers: “The Day the Crayons Quit” and “The Day the Crayons Came Home.”

- Visit Local Establishments: Volunteers can visit local restaurants or related companies/organizations that might be willing to contribute to the group’s collections. This might also be a good way to get local sponsorship for shipping costs.

- Collection Competition: Have the volunteers start their own mini-drives and see who can collect the most crayons/donations.
• Video Project: Create a video that can be presented to younger volunteers about The Crayon Initiative and what your group’s plans are for collecting. (Ideally, this would be done at the start of your campaign and used as an introduction to all group levels. Or this can be used for the following year’s campaign.)

• Stop Motion Animation Project: Create a stop motion animation piece that depicts the life cycle of a crayon, from its use as an artistic tool to the recycling process to its rebirth as a new crayon.

• Decorate Furniture: Purchase white, recyclable cardboard furniture from Flatgoods.com (or acquire some through a donation), then have your volunteers assemble, color and decorate the items. If you have multiple pieces, consider making this activity a contest.

Cardboard, when designed properly, can be just as strong as wood. It uses far less “tree” than actual solid wood and is so lightweight that it reduces shipping costs. The furniture is easy to assemble with a few folds and will last one-to-three years before being fully recycled again. You can use the cardboard furniture at future meetings or auction it off as a fundraising exercise.

• Volunteer Sorting Party: Once your collection campaign has ended, have the volunteers organize and host a party to sort the donated crayons by color (sorting is optional) and prepare boxes for shipping. Invite the local media to cover this event and spread the news about your group’s campaign to the community.

Have you ever wondered what happens to your unwanted crayons?

Shockingly, we discovered most unwanted crayons are thrown away, ending up in the landfill. Not only is this a waste of valuable resources, but it is detrimental to the environment. This inspired us to design a process that recycles used crayons and provides them to children in need.
